TWO CRIMES.

SENSATIONAL NEW FACTS ABOUT THE COLTON MURDER

There is a handsome boom on at San Bernardino and Colton. A Times representative who passed Sunday in those growing towns was surprised to note the progress made within a year in both. The enterprise of the Santa Fé system in its various branches has been the making of them. At San Bernardino the railroad fever is high. The San Bernardino and Los Angeles line is being pushed for all that is out, and the men, trains and supplies incident to the work give San Bernardino a bustling appearance. There are hundreds of cars on the side tracks and hundreds of men about.

pearance. There are hundreds of cars on the side tracks and hundreds of men about. The new road leaves the line a few hundred yards south of the fine depot and takes a straight shoot southwest. The rails are now laid about 3 miles and the grading done 7 or 8 more. J. H. McNeill, of Ocean-side, is superintendent of construction, and Grant Bros. have the grading contract.

The town of San Bernardino is changing fast, and for the better. It stall, from masts for electric lighting, its new street-car tracks and its numerous and creditable new buildings, all give evidence of the boom. So do the prices of real estate. Residence lots anywhere near the business center are worth $50 to $50 a front foot, and $25 a long, long distance out. The excavation for a $50,000 hotel in a central location is going on. The place is beautifully located, surrounded by such scenery as few localities can boast, with a superb climate, any quantity of water—both surface and artesian—and, with the railroad facilities now being perfected, has the making of one of the most important cities in Southern California. A little more enterprise is needed, however. One who rides over from Colton on the dummy road is paralyzed, upon coming within a mile of the business center of San Bernardino, to see the motor uncoupled and a pair of ancient steeds attached to the car in its place. The explanation is that some old fogies fear that a nomadic burro or a vagrant cahallo might be seared if the quiet little motor came up into town, so they are trying to pass an ordinance forbidding its entrance. Peuding such action, the horses come into play on the last mile. It is probable, however, that sense is in the majority in San Bernardino and that the fool ordinance will not prevail.

with Sheriff Cole—whom he first met at The Needles, two years ago—and learned some startling facts not heretofore published. Most of the details of the murder have already been given in these columns and are fresh in the public mind. The post-mortem examination by the physicians on poor Katle Handorff, however, developed the sensational fact that she died ctruo intacta. This adds another possible motive for the murder, which was one of the most cold-blooded in the annals of crime. The picture of Katle Handorff, now in Sheriff Cole's possession, and the only clew from which the identity of murderer and victim was learned, shows a modest, pretty-going German girl. A photograph of the nurderer is also being sent out over the company, it hope that it may lead to his cap ture. It was taken six or eight years ago, however, when Springer was only 20 years old, and looks very unlike him now. This is conceded by all who know him. The face is a fat, good-natured one, not particularly intelligent, nor yet stupid. Sheriff Cole also has the hammer with which the cole at Easterst prices. A WORTHY KILLING.

On Saturday Hack Hurley, who killed Lew McGinnis near Beaumont, a few days ago, as detailed in The Times's correspondence from that point, was discharged. It seems that McGinnis came into a saloon where Hurley was sitting, and, when the latter declined his invitation to drink, called him a vile name, at the same time throwing his hand to his hip pocket. He had made frequent threats to kill furley, and the latter was ready for him. Hardly were the words out of McGinnis's mouth when Hurley put a 45-caller ball through him. There was lively shooting for a moment by both parties, but Hurley was not hurt. McGinnis died a few days later. Both were hard cases, though Hurley was much the more respected. He has killed several men in his time, and is a man of phenomenal nerve. McGinnis was an Arizona desperado of the werst class. A few months ago he was arrested by Deputy Sheriff John Blackburn for burgling a jewelry store in San Bernardino. As Blackburn drew near the jail with his prisoner McGinnis suddenly whipped a torace of .45 Colts from under his coat, leveled them on his captor, and said in a voice that meant business, "Fly, you — ?" Blackburn flew and McGinnis secaped. He was not heard of again till the fracas in which he lost his worthless life.

San Bernardino is keeping up a pretty lively criminal record, having no less than four murderers now in jail. The most notable are the boy Wasson, a "swamper," who killed his employer on the Mojare desert last summer; and "Doc" Griffith, address to the city editor of The Times.

Charles A. Williams, charged with attempt o rape the lady for whom he worked in a commenced in the morning and continued until an advanced hour of the evening. Deputy District Attorney Dupuy moved that the case be tried with closed doors, 'o which Justice Austin agreed. The defendant's counsel said they desired to try the case publicly, their client being an innocent man. Mr. Dupuy thereupon offered to withdraw his motion, but Justice Austin refused to change his decision and the public were accordingly excluded.

DOWN IN A HEAP.

Almost a Catastrophe at the Grand Opera House. During the Band of Hope performance at the Opera House yesterday evening in the midst of an interesting piece the tier of benches upon which the children were standing suddenly and without any warn-ing gave way. Fortunately the descent of standing suddenly and without any warming gave way. Fortunately the descent of the structure was a thick carpet over the seats, which saved the children's legs from becoming entangled, otherwise the casualties would have been very severe. As it was, two boys, Paul Brown and Albert Blanchard, were slightly injured. The cause of the accident is involved in my stery. The platform was built by Decker, the regular carpenter attached to the theater, whe has done similar work on former occasions, and was due to the use of nails instead of bolts, the braces being nailed behind the ters instead of being put under them. It was little short of a miracle that no lives were lost among the 200 children; and almost equally wonderful that there was not a fatal panic in the crowded anditorium. The managers of the concert were in no wise to blame, relying of course, upon the belief that the stage carpenter would do his work safely.

Further Developments Concerning Abel Herring Burton.

On the 8th of January The Trues pub-lished an expose of the aged ministerial fraud and insurance confidence man, Abel fraud and insurance confidence man, Abel Herring Burton, who claimed to represent an alleged "Great Southwestern Benevolent Association, of Little llock, Ark." A copy of that issue was sent lto James H. Barton, a prominent business man of Little Rock for many years, with a letter of inquiry. Mr. Barton writes in reply:

"The life insurance concern, as far as I know, has no existence here. I have bever heard of it. No such person as Mills lives here, as far as I can find out. No, I am wrong. Mills does live here. He has no means. The concern is doubtless begus."

J. A. Mills, it will be remembered, was set forth as the secretary of the alleged concern.

Death of Miss Gale.

Miss Gale, the victim of the accident on Alameda street, died yesterday afternson, shortly after 2 o'clock. It was found that the wheel of the car had split the kneepan, and broken the thigh just above the knee, Mortification set in two days ago, resulting in death, as above stated.

GREAT IS KING BOODLE, AND CAUCUS, HIS PROPHET.

mento-The Price of Mutton-Waterman's Revision of Cushing's Manual-"Dad" Brierly's Bill.

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 14.—[Special Corre-pondence of THE TIMES.] It is just now a matter of interest to the reference to ob-serve that the political power of so great a State as this is in the hands of a blind rumseller, whose local habitation in the lead-ing city enables him to dictate to an interest members of his party the conditions under which he will permit them to have their ambitions gratified. Not that he is any worse than the Republican boss in his city in political matters, but Col. Higgins has the good taste to appear before the public as a boss without a gin-mill attachment. It is asserted by some that he owns the Mint saloon in San Francisco, but no one has ever heard him claim the ownership. But Buckley is quite as proud of his rum hole as he is of his ownership of that portion of the San Francisco delegation known as "Buckley's Lambs," as both are for sale.

THE PRICE OF LAMBS rs of his party the conditions unde

ley's Lambs," as both are for sale.

THE PRICE OF LAMBS is another interesting subject of study, for the fluctuations are equal to those of the stock quotations in Pauper Alley. The usual price of such cattle has never exceeded $3000 for railroad and Senatorial services heretofore, but, owing to the competition among millionaires, it has been on a boom this year. The price put on the Senatorship this time by the cattle-owners is $100,000. This is the figure at which it was offered to Mr. Hellman, who came up here with the idea that legitimate expenditures in a campaign ought to entitle a man to party recognition. But when he found the office for campaign expenditures, he packed his little gripsack and fled to the S. C. B., a wiser, and yet not a poorer man. Few men have been as fortunate as be, for he will not deny that the office was befored to him at the price I have named, a price which he could have paid had he desired to get the office is that way. He escaped with his money, his self-respect and the good opinious of decent people, for all of which he can congratulate himselt. THE PRICE OF LAMBS

REDUCING COMPETITION. advanced. With such a formidable financial competitor out of the way, Uncte George's managers felt themselves masters of the situation, and at once ordered the caucus to proceed. But the manager of the lambs knew a game worth two of the Hearst kind, and ordered his cattle kept in their stalls, and the caucus collapsed. Various wealthy Democrats were at once telegraphed for—(I have copies of the telegrams)—to come to the Capitol at once if they wanted the office; and, strange to say, they responded to the call. The railroad people rushed Sam Wilson to the front under the coattails of Frank Newlands, who was pushed in as a principal or an aid to Wilson, as circumatances might dictate. ed. With such a formidable finan

THE BILL HIGGINS GANG which is a part of the railroad contingent, saw in this programme a chance to turn a which is a part of the railroad contingent, saw in this programme a chance to turn a penny, and at once proposed to the genuine anti-Hearst men that if six or more of them would stay out of the caucus or bolt Hearst if nominated, that they would join them in the election of any respectable rich Democrat. This was a poser to men like Rose, who saw that there was no escape from the financial influences, no matter who was elected. But they did not grasp the real scheme which was to defeat the caucus—carry the election into open convention and then elect Henry Vrocman, if possible. Should that scheme fail, then would be time to carry opt the agreement to vote for Newlands or Wilson. That is the programme now. The anti-Hearst men claim that they have 34 votes which will favor an adjournment of the caucus tonight, and among these 34 are the Buckley-catile. If the caucus is adjourned tonight without action, it can be accepted as proof positive that Hearst has refused to comply with the demands of the Blind Boss, and that the oily Higgins is moving the Vrocman-Railroad scheme to the front. If Newlands knows that he is being played by this gang he is shrewd enough to hide his knowledge, perhaps with the hope that he may outwit the Boodlers and their allies.

A REPUBLICAN SENATOR could be elected much cheaper than a Demo not have to be bought, and it is certain that when they are needed, and for a much less sum than it would cost to buy the "solid fourteen." But whichever way it may go, boodle must be used, and no man can be elected without the use of meney.

COL. JNO. P. IRISH, and Ben. Morgan are the two men who can be properly charged with advancing the price of votes for Senator. They entered price of votes for Senator. They entered the campaign without any hope of defeating Hearst, but for the purpose of making his election so expensive that its notoriety would shasure his rejection by the United States Senate. Their Uncle George was slick senough to see this, and knew that any deal with the San Francisco crowd could not be kept a secret, and I think that up to noon today he has refused the gentle overtures for spot cash. But I will speculate no more.

is having a good deal of fun poked at him by Smart Alecs because of his original methods of "working" the Senate. The cold-blooded fact is that Gov. Waterman goes straight to the point when he wants to do anything instead of by the winding road of parliamentary practics. To illustrate:
The other day a Senator made a motion to adjourn from Friday to 2 o'clock Tuesday.
Gov. Waterman rose and said: "It will suit me better to adjourn to I o'clock Monday—all who are in favor of adjourning to that hour will say yes." GOV. WATERMAN smit me better to adjourn to I o'clock Monday—all who are in favor of adjourning to that hour will say yes."

Of course, the Senate voted no, but that did not prove that Mr. Waterman was not right when he said I o'clock Monday would suit him better. He knows just what he wants, even if he does not get it. The other day the Senate got into some kind of a wrangle just about noon, and the prospects were good that it would keep up the wrangle, but when the hands of the clock pointed to noon Mr. Waterman said: "Gentiemen, it is dinner-time: let's adjourn—all in favor of adjourning will say aye—the Senate is adjourned until 3 o'clock," and then he went out and the Senators followed. The people of Southern California can well be proud of Mr. Waterman, even if he was nominated by tage and Vrooman. For hundreds of years the presiding officers of legislative bodies have gone forward in one beaten track—clinging to precedent and practice, and it remained for this sturdy miner, and honest, horny-handed farmer to cut the gordian knot of worn-out custom, and at one swoop inaugurate a new system of parliamentary law. Gov. Waterman is bound to make his mark (X) on the laws of California, and I expect to see the boomers of the S. C. Belt put the fact in their advertisements of the advantages offered by their section.

Senators may kill the bill by massing cancus measure.

GOVERNOR HABILETT served notice on the boodlers that he would not call any extra sessions, and the consequence is that they are going to try to steal the Treasury in the next 60 days. The proposal to have a clerk and attendant for each member, to be paid out of the Treasury, is one step in that direction. The number of attaches now exceeds that of members, and the list is growing hourly.

Caucus. The battle is over, and Uncle George Hearst is the caucus nominee for Senator, thanks to Boss Buckley and his Senator, manks to Boss Buckley and his able assistant, Col. Bill English, the chairman of the Democratic Legislature. From the first it has been clear to any close observer that Hearst had the longest pole and would knock the persimmon. The injection of Hellman, White, Newlands and Wilson into the company was a part of the win of Hellman, White, Newlands and Wilson into the campaign was a part of the play, like having "by bidders" at an auction, and was only intended to keep up the price of votes. And the game no doubt had its effect. Senatorships come high, but, we have to have 'em. The trail of coin is over us all.

its effect. Senatorships come high, but, we have to have 'em. The trail of coin is over us all.

The game to get all the Democrats into the caucus was a smooth one, and was confided to me at noon today by my friend Dennis Spencer, of Napa. Said he:

"These kickers have been trying all along to diddle us, and we are going to diddle them. It is a part of our play to assume long faces and express doubts about Buckley, and then instruct a lot of our fellows to promise to adjourn the caucus. Then they will all go in, and, being in, not one of them will dare to bolt the nomination. "We have 50 votes sure for Hearst on the first ballot. Now. — you, if you tell this before the caucus is over, your hide won't hold biscuits after I meet you."

I watched the game working, and was only surprised that the able liars who fell into the trap should have been deceived by the other able liars who set they trap. It was a study for a looker-on, for nowhere else on earth outside of a penitentiary could one see such a large and varied collection of criminal talent as that crowd presented.

John Irish left for home on the 2:40 p.m. train in the full belief that the caucus would adjourn without action. Tom Mott went to San Francisco with him, feeling certain that Uncle George was laid away. Majah Lewis, an innocent lamb of the Buckley flock, walked solemnly around and announced that if Hearst was nominated he would be greatly disappointed, while Senator Rose said (with prophetic eye) the joint convention would bestow the toga on Frank Newlands. But the kickers wist not that Majah Lewis was a say in their camp.

Just before dinner I met Mr. Hearst and inquired after the state of his pulse.

"Oh, I have no misgivings; I will be nominated on the first ballot," was his answer.

"But I understand there are a lot of kickers," I said.

"Oh, I have no misgivings; I will be nominated on the first ballot," was his answer.

"But I understand there are a lot of kickers," I said.

"Yes, I have heard of them, but they are outsiders, mainly. Anyhow, it is like a cat-fight; you think from the noise that they are all being killed, but in the end there are more cats. This opposition to me is all noise and will in the end be to my advantage."

"Do you think there is a sack being used against you?" I asked.

"Frankly, I do not," he replied. "You hear a great deal of talk about money being used, but I don't believe any of it, and have told my friends so."

The vote will surprise some of the natives in the back settlements. Wilson got 4. Hellmann 3 and Temple 3. Newlands did not get a vote, an awful warning to sick men not to enter the political arena without something beyond money to commend them. And especially where there are Irishmen among the voters. The gallant sons of Erin, twenty-five in number, who were in the caucus voted to a man for honest Uncle George. If there is any one thing more than another which commends a candidate to Frank Pixley and the Irish politicians of the Democratic kind, it is an honest man of the Uncle George Hearst stamp.

Notes from the Antelope Valley Me

Notes from the Antelope Valley Metropolis.

[Lancaster Chronicle.]

The "oold wave" the past week has given us, probably, the lowest temperature known in this section. Monday, January 10th, the thermometer at 7 a.m. stood at 13° Fah., and Tuesday at 7 a.m. the reading was 16°. Of course, our atmosphere being such a dry one, this low temperature is not unpleasant, but, on the other hand, very healthy—and much more preferable than "fogs" and "dews." Our English cousins, we think, must be rather surprised at this cold weather, where their ideas were probably of a more semi-tropic nature.

Several parties have been making inquiries toward opening a hotel, and no doubt Lancaster will soon have good accommodations for those stopping over here. It is reported that there were five persons on the express train going north Sunday evening who intended to stop off at Lancaster, but did not get off on being told there was no place to put up at. This is a mistake, and although we haven hotel; we have always found room among our townspeople for those wishing to stay over night or a day or two. A new hotel soon will overcome this drawback.

The difference of rainfall measurements between Lancaster, the center of a vast level area, and points along the foothills, is something immense. It is hardly an exaggeration to say that there is as much as 500 per cent, difference, owing to the greater condensation of moisture on the higher elevations. There is often heavy rains observed along the mountains that nearly surround the valley, when, at the same time, not a drop of rain falls in the center of the valley. Thus, to get a correct idea of the amount of rainfall, raingauges should be kept at those places of greater precipitation. It seems as a provision of Providence, that the greater rainfall should be given where it is more difficult to get artesian water, and the less amount of rain where flowing wells can be had.

Plenty of Money.

There is no surer indication of the pros perity of a city than the fleurishing condi-tion of its banking establishments. Judged by this standard Los Angeles may indeed feel more than contented with its present feel more than contented with its present condition. The Los Angeles County Bank has $287,106 in available cash, its deposits amounting to $607,399; the Farmers and Merchants' Bank has a surplus and reserve function.

F. M. Dennis, a despondent patient at the Sisters' Hospital, committed suicide at about 6 o'clock Sunday morning by shooting himself through the head. An inquest was held at Orr & Sutch's yesterday morning, at which the facts were brought out as follows; MRS. M. C. RESTER

Sworn: I keep furnished rooms to let at 413%. S. Spring street. F. M. Dennis came to my house December 9, 1886, and remained till January 12, 1887. He was not sick when he first came there, but took ill some time afterward. He complained of a pain in his side. He was attended by a physician. As it was impossible for me to give him the attention he required, I advised him to go to the hospital. He said he had been married and lived very pleasantly for 18 years with his wife. He never told me anything more about himself. I told him once I did not think be was getting any better and that he only thought he was better because he used so much morphine. I said I was afraid I would find him dead some morning. He said if it came to that he had some through the revolver there. Never saw him have a proviver. He always paid his bills.

FREDERICK CONSTANTINE sworn:

voiver. He always paid his bills.

FREDERICK CONSTANTING

SWOTH: I am a carriage painter, and reside at 413% South Spring. Have known F. M.

Dennis about six weeks. He told me he had been a farmer, a miner, and also knew something about carpentering. He told me he had come from Arizona. Understood him to say he had a brother up there. Said he had been married, but that his wife was dead. Never saw him get a letter or write one. This is the revolver I saw him have while we were rooming together.

DR. HENRY WORTHINGTON

sworn: I am the attending physician at the Sisters' Hospital. Deceased came to the hospital last Thursday evening. I saw him hospital last Thursday evening. I saw him first Friday morning. He complained of pain in the left side. Said he had had the pain for several weeks. He was suffering very much when I saw him. I gave him some medicine and ordered poulties for his side. The medicine did not contain any morphine. Saturday he said he was greatly relieved. That is the last time I saw him alive. He said he had taken considerable morphine before coming to the hospital. I told him that the probable trouble with him was the formation of an abscess. He seemed perfectly rational and spoke very intelligently about his case. When I saw him Sunday morning, he was lying on the bed with his head to one side, his hands across his breast, and a revolver grasped in his right hand. He was dead. The ball entered the skull about 1 inch above the lobe of the ear, and lodged in the brain opposite the point of entrance.

JOHN C. WARREN

sworn: Am a nurse at the Sisters' Hospital. F. M. Dennis came to the hospital Thursday afternoon, suffering with a pain to his side. On Saturday evening I went in to see him and gave him his first dose of medicine. The last time I saw him alive was at 11:30 Saturday evening. At 6 a.m., Sunday, I went into his room, and, by a glance at the looking-glass, saw him tying there, apparently asleep. I did not disturb him. At 6:45 I went to see what he wanted for breakfast; saw him lying on his back, with his head turned to one side, his hands across his breast, a revolver in his right hand, a hole in his head over the ear, and blood all around. I went out and told the Sister Superior, who telephoned at once to Dr. Worthington. She looked the room and did not allow anything to be disturbed. Deceased seemed perfectly sane. Said he was suffering considerably. Never spoke of committing suicide. I didn't know he had a pistol.

THE VERDICT.

The jury found that F. M. Dennis, aged about 45 years, came to his death by a pishot wound, said wound having been flicted by himself, with intent to consulcide.

Has Captured the Boom.

The prosperous settlement of Sierra Madre, on the line of the San Gabriel Valley Railway, 6 miles east of Pasadena, which has long been toying with a boom, has at last got a firm grip on it, and helds it up by the tail. The owner of a subdivision in the center of the tract sold upward of $3000 worth of lots yesterday forenoon. Lots sold by subdividers within the past three months are passing from first to second and third purchasers at an advance ranging from 50 100 per cent. Three stores are in course to 100 per cent. Three stores are in course of erection and three or four more are pro-jected. The hotel project is enlarging and there is talk of a street railroad. The $5000 library building approaches completion.

Pio Pico vs. B. Cohn et al.: No. 2352.

OPINION OF THE COURT.

This is an action on a complaint alleging that on the 7th day of April, 1883, the plaintiff, Pico, was the owner of three certain picoes of property, known generally as the Ramchito, the Pico House and the bank building; that on the same day be made a conveyance absolute in form and terms of the said properties to defendant Cohn; that the agreement was, that any time before the ist of July, 1883, the plaintiff might redeem the same and have a reconveyance absolute in form and terms of the said properties to defendant Cohn; that the agreement was, that any time before the ist of July, 1883, the plaintiff might redeem the same and have a reconveyance absolute in form and terms of the same and have a reconveyance and its properties to defendant Cohn; that the agreement was, that any time before the ist of July, 1883, the plaintiff might redeem the same and have a reconveyance or fraud, in that the complaint charges Cohn with obtaining the deed by undue influence, taking advantage of plaintiff's distress and trouble, and by making promises which he never intended to keep and fulfill.

ALAMITOS BEACH.

ALAMITOS BEACH TOWNSITE.

ALAMITOS BEACH TOWNSITE.

This new seaside resort is located on the Pacific Ocean 22 miles south of Los Angeles and midway between the port of San Pedro and Anaheim landing. Alamitos joins Long Beach on the east and has 10 miles of streets which are to be neatly graded and lined with trees, and will be abundantly supplied with pure artesian water. An extra quality of pipe clay has been discovered on the townsite, which is now being modded into pipe that is to conduct the water over the town. Three hunnred thousand brick are burned and will soon be used to construct a vast reservoir.

The facilities for hunting, fishing and boating are abundantly supplied by the New River and its broad estuaries.

The elevation of Alamitos beach gives a commanding view of the ocean, islands, mountains, harbors and towns, together with its beach, which is unrivaled forts bathing and driving facilities and secures it forever a place in the forefront of seaside rosorts.

California the Home for the Poor Man.

The intensely cold weather preving at the East is hard upon the pof that section, for it entails upon the of that section, for it entails upon them an immense amount of suffering and hardship. The purchase of the fuel necessary for comfort is no inconsiderable item in the list of expenses. It draws heavily upon the limited purse, lessening materially the amount which may be expended for food, clothing and other peoperation of life.

ther necessities of life. But in Southern California the man of small means has no such drawback to contend with. The fuel used for cooking purposes is almost the only fuel consumed. The outlay for this is small, and thus the poorer classes are relieved of the heavy burden which the poor of other less-favored sections en-counter with the coming of a severe winter. This is an attractive feature of our climate. To those dependent upon their daily labor for the means of sub-sistence, it means just so many more dollars in the purse—money that, in-stead of going to purchase fuel may be devoted to the buying of a home, and other comforts. There is no reason in the world why any man with ordinary foresight, industrious habits and a du exercise of economy should not be able to furnish for his household a comfort able home of his own, in this land so peculiarly favorable to such an end. Southern California is peculiarly the paradise of the poor man. Work is abundant and commands higher prices in almost every department than in the older sections of the country; the means of subsistence can be obtained at fair prices; clothing costs hardly more than at the East. The soil, too, is far more productive than the exhausted lands of older States, and the market is constantly widening. With the rapid influx of population, there is scarcely any limit in the demand for labor. Almost every department of industry calls for addi tional wage-workers. It is not only the harvest-time of the rich, but of those less favored with an abundance of this world's goods. Skilled labor can command almost any price, and the unskilled workman need not lack for any of the necessary comforts of life. There is an abundance of outside land to be ob tained at reasonable prices, where he may build and plant, rear his home roof, and bring up his children in health and comfort without fear of frost or of consuming cold Abject poverty is not a necessity here. If a man has health and energy he need have no dread of it, for the natural conditions of this section do not favor it.

Legislative Work.

The present Legislature ought to provide for the Southern portion of the State a complete series of reformatory and charitable institutions. At th time Los Angeles, which is the center of all that region, is about 500 miles from any insane asylum or State prison, or reformatory school. There is not another city of equal size in the United States, nor in Christendom, about which that can be said. Think of it: A great city 500 miles away from these civilized and civilizing institutions. The very least that ought to be expected of the present Legislature is a branch insane asylum and a re-formatory prison, to be located in or near Los Angeles. Both of such institutions should be of ample dimensions, as they would almost certainly be patronized largely by the Territories of Arizona and New Mexico, which would inure to the advantage of this State financially. If our Senators and Assemblymen at Sacmento would put their heads together they could accomplish something worth while in this direction. It is not a vain utility, and almost indispensable to this large and growing end of the State. On behalf of the people of this county we ask the attention of Mr. White an Mr. Rose and Mr. Brierly and Mr. Knox to this subject.

The Matter of Streets

The oft-repeated excuse for the improper condition of our streets is that the law relating to their improvement is defective, and that the city authorithe premises. We have been told over and over again that one or two property-owners on a street, or section of a street, can thwart the wishes of all the rest of the owners on that portion of the street; that all the owners but one may desire to pave a street, and no power exists to bring that one contrary individual into the arrange ment. It is claimed that one citizen can thus defeat, it may be, a most important public measure. Such has been the position of some of our municipal authorities, but we have ever adhered to the opinion that more power, in reference to this matter, was odged with the officials than they were willing to exercise. But if the needed authority is really lacking now is the time to "get shut" of the difficulty by obtaining a change of the law. The Legislature is now in session and without doubt will do, in aid of street improvement, whatever the Mayor and Council of the city will ask of them. But the sessions of the Legislature, under the new constitution, are very short, and, unless something is done promptly, we shall have to suffer the annoyance of bad streets at least two longer. The damage caused by such a calamity to the city could only be measured by millions of dollars. Nothing is of so great importance to a city as its thoroughfares. They are its veins and arteries, so to speak, through which its life-blood nows wanted streets there can be no city, and, without good streets, no great city.

If necessary, a delegation of our City Council should proceed without delay to Sacramento and lay their demands to Sacramento and lay their demands. before the proper committees of the Legislature. With all kindness, but Legislature. With all kindness, but with as much earnestness as kindness, we say to the Mayor and Councilmen and to the Superintendent of Streets, that we have reached a point in our his tory where this matter cannot be fur-ther neglected without the gravest responsibility. A very large majority of the people desire to see the city streets improved and made passable at all sea-sons, and they do not feel at ease under the damaging restraint put upon them by a few old fogies, who chance to own lots on the principal thoroughfares.

AMUSEMENTS.

Band of Hope Entertainment—The Opera House was crowded last night with the parents and friends of the large number of children who belong to the Band of Hope. A lengthy programme of exercises including songs, recitations and dialogues, appropriate to the occasion, was carried out faithfully by the young people under the supervision of Mrs. Blanchard. An accident, which might have had a fatal termination, occurred at the beginning of the entertainment and for a time caused great excitement. The staging built for the little ones, and which was composed of seven tiers, together about nine feet high, suddenly gave way with a crash, and 200 children were in a moment very much mixed. Fortunately, a slight scalp wound to one little boy and a scratched leg to another were the only injuries resulting from the accident.

It would seem that although the Opera BAND OF HOPE ENTERTAINMENT-The were the only injuries resulting from accident.

It would seem that although the Opera House is destitute of the usual stage properties it might at least be furnished with some well-made and permanent appliances for an occasion of this sort, and that the lives and limbs of the little ones should not be endangered on an insufficient scaffolding, hurriedly nailed together by the stage carnetter.

ANGRY ADAMS.

Union Pacific's President Pens An Indignant Epistle.

Indignant Episte.

Boston, Jan. 17.—[By the Associated Press.] President Adams, of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, has addressed a etter to the Chairman of the House Com nittee on Pacific Railroads, of which the folowing is a copy:

mittee on Pacific Railroads, of which the following is a copy:

Hon. J. W. Throckmorton, Chairman Committee on Pacific Railroads, United States House of Representatives, Washington, D. C.—Dear Sir: I see by the papers that the House of Representatives is now considering the expediency of an investigation into the past history and meney transactions of the Pacific railroads, preliminary to a final adjustment of the financial relations between those companies and the government. It has also been asserted that the companies will strive to avoid such an investigation. I do not want the position of the Union Pacific upon this point to be misunderstood. While as a matter of business expediency the company is most anxious to reach a final settlement with the government, it does not fear any investigation of its affairs which may be ordered. It will do nothing to prevent or avoid one. During the last fifteen years the Union Pacific Railway Company has been more frequently and thoroughly investigated than any other business corporation on earth. Committees of Congress have reported on it, Secretaries of the Interior and Railroad Commissioners have investigated its accounts, a succession of boards of government directors have early investigated than any other business corporation. The province of Congress have reported on it, Secretaries of the Interior and Railroad Commissioners have investigated its accounts, a succession of boards of government directors have been analyzed by the Department of Justice and Court of Claims. So far as I have been able to discover there is nothing connected with its affairs or its history which Congress and the country does not know or cannot learn from the printed record. If under these circumstances further investigation is deemed necessary the present management will facilitate that investigation by all under these circumstances further investigation is deemed necessary the present management will facilitate that investigation by all means in its power. Those connected with it only ask that any investigation may be trusted to men of character, standing and intelligence, to the end that it may put a

The interests of thousands of persons and whole for further delays, affording infinite possibilities for stock manipulation. The interests of thousands of persons and whole regions of the country thus become the football of any schemer or gambler who has access to the columns of some journal willing to increase its circulation by setting forth forgotten scandals of ancient history as new and startling disclosures. What the Union Pacific, as a business corporation, does object to, is that delay which will keep it and its securities in a position to be bandled to and fro between Wall street and Washington, the prey of intriguers and speculators. The government of the United States is by far the largest creditor of the Union Pacific, which, as a debtor at once willing and able to pay in full, if dealt with on recognized business principles, thinks it not unfair to ask its principal creditor not to let itself be used by competitors and stock jobbers as an instrument with which to injure the business resources and impair the credit of the debtor from whom payment of the last penny is still to be exacted. I respectfully, but confidently, submit that to allow itself to be so used is neither justice, nor business, nor fair play. I have the honor to be (Signed) Charles F. Adams, President.

THE INDIANA CONTEST.

A Decision Adverse to the Claim of Lieut.-Gov. Robertson.
INDIANAPOLIS, Jan. 17.—[By the Associated Press.] Judge Ayers, of the Circuit Court, this morning gave his decision on the proceedings against Lieut.-Gov. Robertson. He held that the court had jurisdiction of the case, and also that there is no provision of the Constitution whereby a Lieutenant Governor can be elected at any other time than when the Governor is elected, that is than when the Governor is elected, that is once in every four years. He granted a writ of injunction against Col. Robertson to restrain him from presiding at the joint convention for electing a Senator on Wednesday. In conclusion the Judge said he assumed jurisdiction and made the decision as he did that there could be an appeal to the Supreme Court at once. He believed that upon such an important question the opinion of that court should be had.

The chambers of the Senate and Assembly were adorned in a superb manner, and the corridors of the second floor, on which these large rooms are located, were also radiantly attired. All the corridor room on the first floor was used for the boquet tables. They were in length altogether 436 feet. The Governor's table was set in the rotunda. All the approaches to the long dining-hall were closed, except the Assembly stairway, which served as the entrance to it. There was enough table room to seat 420 people at once. As on the decorations of the two halls of Legislature there was an unusual amount of work expended, the banquet hall and tables fairly bristle with artistic conceptions of edible fortifications, fountains and motioes. At 7 o'clock the last artisan withdrew from the Capitol, and the turmoil of hacks, carriages and street cars had fairly been commenced. The San Francisco Hussar Band, stationed on the second floor under the great dome of the Capitol, emblazed with light, began the musical exercises of the evening, an immense crowd of Sacramento people being gathered in front of the Capitol to observe the carriages arriving and the richly attified guests ascending the crowded stairways leading to the dancing halls.

The band had not finished the first selection before the guests began to arrive in numbers. Soon the galleries of both Assembly and Senate halls were filled by spectators who had not come to dance, while laddes whose object was to participate actively in the festivities promenaded the carpeted corridors with their escorts. Diversity in style of costumes was particularly noticeable among the ladles. Full dress was the rule, and many magnificent costumes and equally superb figures were lavishly displayed. The men, however, eschewed the severely proper swallowall coat and crush hat and sported a variety of street and business suits. The Gubernatorial party was received in th

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 17.—[By the Associated Press.] The most fearful explosion that ever occurred on this coast took place near the Cliff House at 1 o'clock, yesterday morning. The schooner Parallel sailed from here on Thursday morning for Astoria with an assorted cargo of merchandise and 80,000 pounds of giant powder. The vessel emcountered contrary winds and after beating about for two days put back. At 10 o'clock Saturday night the captain perceived that he was near Point Lobos. The wind suddenly died and the strong tide carried the schooner over to the sunken rocks south of Point Lobos and within the Seal Rock. Seeing that it was impossible to prevent the ship going to pieces and knowing the dangerous character of the cargo, the daptain and crew abandoned the schooner. They took to the small beats, but as a heavy sea was running, rendering it impossible to make a landing, they stood away for the Golden Gate.

At 10 clock in the morning a telephone rith an assorted cargo of merchandise and was running, rendering it impossible to make a landing, they stood away for the Golden Gate.

At 1 o'clock in the morning a telephone message was received at the Merchants' Exchange, announcing a fearful explosion. An examination by the life-saving crew at Point Lobot showed that the immense quantity of powder on board the vessel had, under its violent motion on the rocks, become ignited, scattering destruction on all sides. The explosion was so great that it was felt at Sacramento, over a hundred miles. Buildings in the neighborhood, including the Cliff House, signal station and life-saving station were wrecked. Adolf Sutro's conservatory, on the heights above, was completely demolished, and the windows of his house, as those in all other houses were broken by the great concussion. John Wilson, Harry Smith and Charles Rogers, three members of the life-saving crew, who were camped on the beach, were seriously and one of them probably fatally injured. The famous Cliff House was so badly shattered that it will probably have tebe rebuilt. The explosion created the greatest consternation in this city, many mistaking it for a severe earthquake. Nota vestige of the unfortunate schooner remains, a few floating pieces of wreckage being all that is left. Capt. Hyslop, of the Merchants' Exchange signal service, said his first impression was that the entire Cliff House bluffs had been blown away. Thousands of people yesterday visited the scene of the disaster.

people yesternay visited the scene of the disaster.

The captain and crew of the schooner Parallel arrived in the city at noon yesterday. After leaving the vessel and failing to make a landing on the beach, they then made for Point Bonita, a few miles distant, which they reached after a desperate pull. In the morning they walked to Saucelito and took the steamer for this city. The wreck, explosion and attendant destruction is the reigning sensation. Thousands of people are visiting the scene of ruin. The cable cars were taxed to their fullest capacity yesterday, it being estimated that over 50,000 people went to the beach.

No demonstration against either road has followed that explosion, and today there were few policemen to be seen along the lines. At the office of the Sutter-street road it was considered improbable that any special difficulty would be experienced in running cars regularly from this time on . Judging from the number of passengers on the several cars this forenoon, travel on these times is better than last week. The striking carmen continue to run vehicles drawn by horses, and have increased the number which they had last week by purchase, and their energies seemed today to be principally devoted to running their line, which was well patronized. It is believed that at least one of the men arrested for alleged complicity in the wreck of the dummy on Post street will be convicted. The evidence against him is said to be strong enough to Post street will be convicted. The evidence against him is said to be strong enough to warrant that belief on the part of the authorities. With a larger reward it would be an easy thing to get such evidence as would lead to the conviction of all persons concerned in the recent outrages. A reward of $10,000, in the opinion of the police, would put a summary end to all violence and would reveal and bring to punishment those who have been engaged in acts endangering lives and property.

A SUCCESSFUL PAPER—NOTES.

PASADENA, Jan. 17.—[Correspondence of Int Times.] The foundation is being laid for the handsome new structure of C. T.

Hopkins, on the corner of Fair Oaks and Union streets. The building is to be a model of architecture, and, when completed, will cost about $12,000.

The public schools opened this morning, with 85 new pupils. It is evident from this that another member will have to be added to the already able corps of teachers.

The latest enterprise, and one which is receiving the solid support of our citizens, is the Pasadena Daily Star. The Star, not yet one year old, and once enlarged to meet pressing business demands, will appear very soon as a seven-column daily. The Star means to keep abreast of the times, and takes this step, not for fun, but as a business necessity.

SLANG AND MORALS. LOS ANGELES, Jan. 16.—[To the Editor of THE TIMES.] Please give the following a place in your People's Col-umn. The vulgar and demoralizing habit here referred to is all too common with nere referred to is all too common with our own journals. And if the excuse be made, which is generally volunteered by newspaper men when criticisms are ventured upon the conduct of their papers, "that the popular taste demands such food," it puts upon the clitzens of better taste the duty of protesting—the duty of showing that the majority is really on their side, a fact of which many editors seem unware:

fact of which many entrors seem in aware:

"To the Editor of the Nation—Sir: I have a pyschological question to propose. What is the exact state of mind, under analysis, of the newspaper writer who always speaks of crime jocosely? Everybody must have observed that it is one of the many ways in which the vulgar newspaper tends to vulgarize the public. For example, why "boodle" aldermen? Certainly, nothing is gained by slang terms for criminal offenses; and it is noticeable that well-bred people are not in the habit of using them.

noticeable that well-bred people are not in the habit of using them.

"The humorous or jocular view of any oc-currence commonly implies a kind of care-less, good natured sympathy with the actor. What does this habit of jocose and slangy reference to criminals indicate in the thirdrate newspaper writer, if not a secret and constitutional sympathy with crime?"

Loe Angeles, Dec. 2, 1886.—Dr. W. N. Davis—Dear Sir: I wish to testify as to what your catarrh treatment has done for me. I was troubled with catarrh for five or six years or more, and felt as if death would be a relief. My sense of smell was entirely gone, and my hearing and taste were very much affected. Your treatment relieved at once, and in a few weeks entirely cured me, and restored my lost senses to their natural condition.

Los Angeles, Jan. 27, 1886.—This is to certify that I have been troubled for four years with bronchitis, and in six weeks I have been almost entirely cured by Dr. W. N. Davis, and have bad no suffocative attacks since I commenced treatment. I can recommend Dr. Davis to any who are troubled with the lungs.

Mrs. M. S. STEVENS, Ninth st., near Pearl.

Los Angeles, Feb. 3, 1886.—Dr. Davis: If it were not for you I am satisfied that I would now be dead with lung disease, which had troubled me for two years, as at the time I began treatment last summer I was so low that I was unable to continue my trip East, after starting, and was obligged to return from Mojave. I wish to testify that I was entirely cured in three months, and found your charges very reasonable. reasonable. Mrs. H. P. Mersereau, 22 Bernard et.

700 ACRES

DIVIDED INTO ONLY

1400 LOTS.

Price of Lots, $150 Each. First Payment, $20.

Succeeding Payments $10 Monthly, Without Interest.

The entire tract is beautifully situated, with a charming view, pure air and water and perfect drainage. The Ostrich Farm Dummy Railroad runs through the tract, with a five-cent fare guaranteed to and from the center of the city. This road will be completed to the tract July 1, 1887 Pure and abundant water piped through all the streets.

Size of lots, 50x150 feet up to 5 acres. The average size of lots, half an acre. The uniform price of these lots is placed at $150; first payment $20 cash, with succeeding payments of $10 per month, without interest. This is a splendid investment for a very small amount of money.

When $100 has been paid on each lot, the entire number of lots will be distributed among the purchasers, on the same plan as that on which the Childs tract was distributed.

This tract is situated upon the hills, which are rapidly becoming the most desirable residence portion of the city. The soil is a warm, sandy loam, free from frost, being in what is known as the warm belt. The elevation is such that the temperature is more even than in the city.

Free carriage to the tract every day from the office of the agents. Maps and circulars and all information can be had from CALIFORNIA CORK.

A Tree secessfully Grown in the Golden State.

Pasian Rumi Free.

Some enterprising Americam have recently conceived the idea to grow cork trees in this country. They believe they can be successfully grown in the climate of California, and steps have been taken toward making the experiment.

—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

The growth of the cork oak in California is not a matter of experiment. Its success was demonstrated long ago. The distribution of cork acorns by the Patent Office about 25 years ago may not have accomplished much in other parts of the country, but it gave us a start, and there are trees yielding cork and bearing acorns at a number of different places in the State. Some time ago we gave a picture of the tree growing on Mr. Richardson's place at San Gabriel, Los Angeles county. There were samples of cork and acorns shown at the Sacramemto Citrus Fafr by H. A. Messenger, of Calaveras county. There are trees of similar age in Sonoma, Santa Barbara and Tulare, and perhaps other counties which we do not now remember. The State University is growing seedlings from California cork acorns, and will be likely to have the trees for distribution next year. There is no doubt about the adaptation of the tree to the State, as the widely-separated counties hamed above all furnish proper conditions for its growth. It is, of course, a crop which one has to wait some time to gather and therefore needs patience in the planter.

The journal named above, and which mentions experiments as to be tried in California, gives some facts concerning the cork trade which will be gead with interest in this State.

The average annual importation of corkwood into this country, entirely at the port of New York, is 70,000 bales a year. A bale weighs 160 pounds, and is worth on this side of the water $20, making a total value of the yearly im-the port of New York, is 70,000 bales a year. A bale weighs 180 pounds, and is worth on this side of the water $20, making a total value of the yearly importation of $1,400,000. It comes in duty free: It is nearly all brought over by one firm, which has a branch office in New York, the main offices being in Londen and Lisbon. The firm owns wast forests of corkwood in Portugal and Spain, and may be said to control the business. With the exception of an inferior kind of corkwood grown in Algiers to a limited extent, all the corkwood of commerce comes from the inferior kind of corkwood grown in Algiers to a limited extent, all the corkwood of commerce comes from the Spanish peninsula, where the trees abound not only in cultivated foreets, but also grow wild on the mountains. The tree is like an American oak, with leaves similar to the oak and acorns. It takes ten years for the bark to become of proper thickness to be manufactured into bottle-stoppers, life-preservers and sein corks. When stripped from the tree it is boiled for two hours, cured in the sun for a week and pressed into flat pieces for bailing and shipping. The denuded trunk, like a hen robbed of her eggs, does not skulk and quit the business, but throws out a fresh covering for a fresh spoliation. One tree has been known to yield one-half ton of corkwood. One pound of cork can be manufactured into 144 champaign corks. The baled cork-bark is sold to cork manufacturers in the cities. The most extensive manufactory in America is at Pittsburgh. Beside the ordinary demands for corkwood, a good supply of the buovant material, after being burned to mands for corkwood, a good supply of the buoyant material, after being burned to make it still lighter than the original bark, is shipped to Canada and New England, where it is made into sein corks.

Patti's Album.

[Pail Mail Gazette.]

Autograph collecting is one of the most harmless as well as the most interesting of hobbies, and when a celebrated person takes to keeping an album of autographs, a collection of more than usual value is likely to be the result. It is not generally known that among others who share this weakness is that greatest of singers.

Mme. Adelina Patti. For many years past no friend of any distinction has written a few words either upon Mme. Patti herself or upon some other subject of interest. The consequence is that the signatures of almost every notability both in and outside the musical world are to be found in one of her albums, while, besides these, are many letters of well-known composers and musicians which Mme. Patti has had presented to her or has herself purchased. Of these are letters from Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and other illustrious ones.

Many extracts could be given from the same albums: we will now, however,

Mozart, Beethoven, Chopin and other illustrious ones.

Many extracts could be given from these albums; we will now, however, merely give the following, which we trust the gifted songstress will forgive us for publishing. The first is from Rossini, and is dated February 16, 1854. He writes: "Tis an easy and a pleasant task which you have set menamely, to jot down at random a thought or two in your album. There pleasant task which you have set menamely, to jot down at random a thought or two in your album. There are, then, three things which I shall ever do first, honor you personally; secondly, marvel intensely at your talent; and, lastly, be until death, your most faithful and grateful friend, G. Rossini." Meyerbeer is much more formal and stiff. "I beg of you," he writes, "to accept this as a tribute of my most respectful homage and my profound admiration." Berlioz, on the other hand, is characteristically witty. "How am I to translate oportet pati? It has been variously rendered, you know. Pedantic scholars would have us believe it means, 'Snfering is the lot of man.' Not so say the jolly monks; oportet pati is simply, 'Bring hither (aportez) the pate,' while with a still nearer approach to truth I, with all true lovers of music and song, say it means, 'It is impossible to exist without Patti!"

[San Diego San.]

The first shovelful of earth for the excavation for the Hotel del Coronado was turned today by Mrs. E. S. Babcock, Jr., wife of the president of the Coronado Company. This means thousands of dollars to be soon expended here. The services of hundreds of skilled artisans and laborers will be required in building the mammoth edifice, which is to be the largest hotel at seaside resorts in the world, barring the vast structure on the Atlantic coast, at Rockaway Beach. It will also be a busy time for the granite works in the Temecula cañon, as it has been decided to lay the foundation of solid granite. Prosperity and plenty in store for all who are willing to labor—no droues need apply.

People who Meant Well but Didn't Know How.

[Detroit Free Press.]

There is no aphorism that commands more respect than this, "the truth is not to be spoken at all times." Plainspoken people are always dreaded by their friends. They excarate with unskillful scalpel. It is a rule with them to smooth pussy's fur the wrong way, on the principle that it is a healthy function—but the cat never ap recinte it.

I few days age a grand-looking old gentleman with white hair but fine, strong physique, gave up his seat in the street car to a lady, whereupon a young miss Jumps up and, with great engencess, exclaims:

"Take my seat, please do. I never eageriess, exclains:

"Take my seat, please do. I never like to see an old person stand," Doubtless the motive was good, but the manner was most offensive, drawing, as it did, a sharp and obtrusive line between youth and age, and calling attention to the infirmities that all are sensitive to, saying nothing of the implied rebuke to the lady who accepted the old gentleman's seat.

the old gentleman's seat.

A similar incident witnessed by the writer was met with a brusque response. An elderly lady was standing in the car when a young lady arose and said:

"I am younger than you; I will stand."

"Sult yourself," answered the lady who was so suddenly brought into prominence, and she remained standing.

Again, a gentleman who was walking behind a lady on the sidewalk thought he preceived that some part of her drapery was displaced; he touched her on the shoulder;

"You are losing your overskirt, madam," he said hurriedly.

"Well, sir," said madam, "is that any of your business?"

Two young ladies who were confidential friends resolved with each other to point out their mutual faults, with a view to improving. They were seated cozily chatting when one said to the other:

a view to improving. They were seated cozily chatting when one said to the other:

"There is one thing, Clara, love, I have often noticed in you, and that is a habit of interrupting people—"
"I interrupt, Laura, dear? Why, you must be mistaken. I have always considered it the rudest thing in the world. Now you have a habit of contradicting that is very disagreeable."

"I don't cross my feet, if I do," said Laura, tartly.

"I don't chew gum," retorted Clara.
"You are not very polite, miss!"
"Quite as much so as you."
"I think you are real mean!"
"Ithink you are horrid!" [Tears.]
"You needn't ever speak to me again." [Sobs.]

[Sobs.] gain." [Sobs.]
"Don't you recognize me till I do!"
And the two friends part in hysterial enmity. Sometimes the truth is, adeed, an overrated virtue, but her andmaiden is one of the social graces.

A Kiss for a Vote.

[St. Louis Globe-Democrat.]

The great success of Lady Randolph Churchill as an election canvasser reminds the historian of the efforts of the Duchess of Devonshire in behalf of Fox in 1784. Her grace was remarkable for her great beauty, and a quaint cut-of the period represents her using nature's gifts to the best advantage. "A kiss for a vote" was the rule throughout the contest, and many a burly voter found the bribe irresistible. So successful was the scheme that the opposition enlisted other beautiful women on their side, and what is quaintly described as a "kissing match" enshed. If electors took bribes of this kind from both sides their gallantry must be their excuse. At any rate, the ladies won the day, for the third candidate in the triangular contest, having declined to make allies of the fair sex, got very conspicuously left. Other and more objectionable electioneering dodges prevailed until at last public opinion grew so strong that judicious legislation was gradually introduced and the game ended. A cartoon of the time, representing an indignant elector protesting against anti-bribery acts, and exclaiming, with eyes and hands uplifted: "Sire, there's a bill about to pass that will ruin our trade and bring our families to beggary. I hope, sire, you will us your induence to throw it out."

In 1797 Grey brought in his first meaure and asked for leave to introduce bill to reform the representation of the country. Leave was refused by 1St. Louis Globe-Den ice a bill to reform the representation the country. Leave was refused by votes. Thirty-four years later he rried his measure, by which several the most notorious pocket boroughs ere perpetually disfranchised. In of the most notorious pocket boroughs were perpetually distranchised. In 1866 Gladstone's reform bill, disfranchising several boroughs, notably those in which corruption was proved to have been general, was rejected, and the year following Disraeli dished the Whigs and passed a much more stringent measure. A year later the House of Commons transferred its right of trying election petitions to judges of the High Court, and with this change came for the first time an impartial though severe administration of the existing bribery laws. In 1881 the most stringent bill against bribery the world has ever heard of was passed, and now a candidate is compelled to keep an exact account of his expenditure, and not spend more than a fixed sum, regulated according to the size of his constituency. This, coupled with the ballot act passed 10 years previously, put a stop on bribery on anything like a large scale. The reform bill of 1885, redistributing seats in accordance with population, and finally doing away with such pocket boroughs as had escaped the two preceding measures in the same tendency, may be said to have completed the task and to have put a final end to the amusing if immoral practices of olden times.

A Dog Fond of Hallroad Bides. Subscribed and sworn to before me this 12th day of January, 1887.

A Dog Fond of Railroad Rides.

[Boston Globe.]

An intelligent dog called Railroad Mac, because of his fondness for riding on cars, is owned by Mrs. Wolcott, of Falls Village, Ct. The dog came to this village Saturday and remained over Sunday with Conductor Spencer, returning home on Monday. Today the dog went up the Housatonic Road again, and he has earned a wide notoriety as a railroad trayeler. Until recently his travels have been confined to the Housatonic and Connecticut Western Railroads, but he lately, it is said, got en the New England Road at Hawleyville, Ct., and getting on the locomotive took a pleasure trip to Boston, where he remained awhile, and then returned by the Boston and Albany and Housatonic route. When a pup he was owned by Enginear Russell, who allowed the dog to run on the engine, and in this way the animal acquired his fondness for rail-road travel. The dog wars a House-tonic and Connecticut Western Hall-road button, with a postal ticket as a badge of introduction wherever he goes. The dog was here again today, arriving a 1 p.m. and returning at 2:30 p.m. Onthe train he appears to know the whistle of different trains, and has his preference among the railroad men, but they all treat and feed him well. The dog has setter blood, with the marks of a shepherd, and has a large circle of acquaintances from Bridgeport to Pittsfield.

The Power of the Press.

A newspaper in illinois recently brought suit against forty-three men who would not pay their subscriptions, and obtained judgment in each case for the full amount of the claim. Of these twenty-eight made affidavit that they owned no more property than the law allowed them, thus preventing attachments. They they under the decision of the Supreme Court, were arrested for petty larceny, and bound over in the sum of $300 each. All but six gave bonds, while six went to jail.

MR. J. DEBARTH SHORB, President of the San Gabriel Valley Company, has subdi-vided and put upon the market five hundred acres of as choice land as there is in South-ern California, situated on the Southern Pacific Railroad, south of and adjoining Shorb's Staion. Only six miles from the city of Los Angeles and being the first station east. Six express trains daily. Location for healthfulness, climate, productiveness of soil and beautiful scenery is unsurpassed. It is well sheltered by the beautiful foothills surrounding it, is in full view of and only four miles from "The Raymond," the finest hotel in Southern California, and

Three Miles from South Pasadena.

The character of the soil is alluvial, very rich and easily cultivated. The rainfall is greater than many portions of the valley and the soil retains the moisture, and the growth of vegeta-tion, trees and vines is wonderful. It is adapted to oranges and lemons.

The favored location of the house is such that the sun shines into the rooms on the ocean side all day long, thus making a combination of sunshine and pure it from the Pacific that is not often found.

The beach dure to for ton miles in front of the breakers is one of the greatest attractions in the vicinity of Los Angeles. Statistics prove that during the winter months the climate is warmer and more uniform than farther back from the coast.
